

CHICKENS! We have nine of them, three each of Black Australorps, Plymouth Rocks and Buff Brahmas. We brought them home at a day old. They are now about a month old. We expect (once again) to be enjoying our own fresh eggs mid-summer.

A Puppy Relationship

Since Chris received Miles' pedigree from his former owner, I was able to research their lines and found out Morgan and Miles are related! Morgan's grandfather is Benny aka "Multi BOB DC/AFC NMK's Molto Bene, MH." AND Benny is also Miles' great grandfather. Odd though in that Miles is 16 months and Morgan is 4 months.

Growing so fast!

Morgan will be five months old on April 10th! With this puppy, I have had a lot more time to enjoy her especially with all the help from Robert. Each week I ask Robert to take a photo of Morgan and I for my Facebook profile photo. Along with a new photo each week, I have been writing up a little summary of Morgan's week. Basically she has her own baby book. Check it out by clicking through my Facebook profile photos. <facebook.com/susie.osborn>

This weekend would have been Morgan's debut in conformation showing. Alas all the dog shows for the next two months have been cancelled due to COVID-19. As disappointing as this is, it is a wise decision in the effort to keep people safe. As it is, not as many dog shows have been scheduled close to home this year so when shows start back up, I may not be going to very many anyway—unless I decide to travel further. How does a dog show circuit in Oregon and Washington sound? I bet there are places Morgan and I could stay!

A GSP Playdate

Last Friday, Miles enjoyed a play date with Morgan and Brooklyn, their second one (third if you count the day Miles arrived). Miles loves playing with Morgan and is so gentle with her. Brooklyn hangs out with the puppies until she spots squirrels. She is okay with Miles taking over playtime as she gets plenty with Morgan at home.
