

November Birthday Celebrations X 3!

Not only did Chris and Miles celebrate birthdays on November 1st, Morgan celebrated a birthday on November 10th. Chris turned 50. Miles turned two. Morgan turned one.

Since Chris doesn't like cake all that much but does like sugar cookies, I made him a giant 10 inch sugar cookie for his birthday topping it with sugar cookie letters and numbers.

Halloween is for Dress Up

Back when the pandemic started, Chris thought "why shave?" since he didn't have to go in to the office, thinking it'd only be a few weeks. Of course it wasn't and now 8 months later he has become quite sick of the beard but decided to keep it until Halloween to take some silly pictures. He really got into it as you can see by all the photos on the right. There was a lot of setup involved, lots of special clothing to buy and props to find. LOVE his creativity!

Unexpected and Sudden Loss

Earlier this month, Robert's sister, Dorothy, a stalwart member of our family, passed away after experiencing a very bad fall. Losing Dorothy is very hard to comprehend.

She will no longer be at family gatherings; we will no longer enjoy her wit and sense of humor, her joy of playing games, hearing about all her traveling adventures, and seeing her delight and generosity in sharing what she had by giving unique gifts—often as a surprise or just because—no matter what time of year it was. Losing Dorothy is heartbreaking.
