

Porcelain Doll

Sierra's longtime dream to perform in the Nutcracker came to fruition last weekend. Her Nutcracker debut included five months of rehearsals, a week of daily ballet buns, and three days of show makeup to be on-stage as one of five porcelain dolls. I didn't get a photo of her in her costume since costumes can only be worn backstage and on-stage but Kathy did get this very nice picture of her after her last performance. Sierra's dedication to this dream is incredible. She decided she wanted to be in the Nutcracker after attending her first Nutcracker performance. Thereafter she started attending ballet classes in Napa to begin training toward becoming a Nutcracker performer. This is the 17th year the studio she attends has performed the Nutcracker and the last two years included a live orchestra!

Tree Be Gone

Robert just finished cutting down a 100 foot tree at the back of our property. He was concerned a big wind would knock it down as it started leaning a great deal.

 Merry Christmas * Holly Jolly Holidays * Jingle All the Way * Glad Tidings * And a HAPPY New Year! ***

More Show Points!

I am so proud of Brooklyn. She finished the year in great style. First Place in Open, Winners Bitch, Best of Winners, Best Opposite Sex, & Best of Breed Owner Handled—all at the December Golden Valley Kennel Club in Stockton!

Gobble Gobble

This year, Chris hosted Thanksgiving. We had a small group what with Kathy, Tim, and the kids all driving to Oregon to join Kathy's cousin, Dave, and family for turkey time.

Christmas Traditions

Cutting down a tree from our property. The kids decorating the tree. Me loving it all.

